January 19, 2011

MINUTES

Opening Remarks:

Laurie White, President

Laurie welcomed all to this month's meeting and reviewed mission statement:

“The Sonoma County Section on Aging is a coalition of agencies, organizations and individuals concerned with the well being of older adults. As a network alliance, we advocate for and promote the development, coordination, and implementation of older adult services in Sonoma County.”

She reiterated that the monthly meetings are a great place to educate, network, and make announcements. Reminded group that SOA reference cards are available for all to use as handouts.

Laurie expressed thanks to all that contributed to December's very successful Secret Santa program.

Introduced new SOA Leadership Committee:

Any questions on how to post announcements on the SOA website should be directed to Bob Cheal.

Laurie shared that she received two emails from members asking for:

- Longer discussions on topics (allowing more than 30 minutes)
- Plan for speaker/event that we could advertise and invite the public to
- Bring in local politicians and put on hot seat
- Expand the networking
- Expand the website capabilities by adding links to related articles/events

Program Speaker:

Keith Woods, CEO
North Coast Builders Exchange
“Sonoma County Housing Trends and What It Means to Elders”

Keith first shared his personal experience with his own father and the value of all the senior services available.

The housing market is not going to get back to what everyone thinks is “normal”. We have a new baseline. Sonoma County is still the best place to live and he feels many seniors will chose to stay here rather than relocate to warmer weather locations as has been so popular in the past. One out of eight Americans are Californians. The most rapidly growing population is that of Hispanics. The birth rate for Hispanics is twice that of Anglo Americans.

Current state of Sonoma County:

Housing is the most troubled industry
We are 1 year behind in housing that needs to be built
Almost no one is building new homes right now
Median price for homes went from $600,000 to $325,000

The market is in turmoil. Lack of new building is attributed to:

Tight money
Foreclosures (1 in 4 or 5 underwater)
Average cost for permits/fees to build new home is $69,000
Fear of second wave of foreclosures

Because of the current state of the economy, many seniors find themselves taking in their adult children, so cannot downsize as they may have originally planned. New building industry will be based on the senior market. There are more than 80,000,000 baby boomers, who will be looking for single story, single family residences.

Keith feels there might be a slight rebound in 2012, but more likely 2013, 2014, or 2015. He sees an increase in the businesses of retrofitting existing homes.
